What makes Roger so valuable in a Digital World? His stage presence, acting ability, captivating storytelling, communication and engagement expertise...

MEET ROGER

Hi! I'm Roger Haskett. I am an award-winning keynote speaker, author of 'the me you want to be,' and President of Engagement Unlimited.

As a keynote speaker, I believe in active participation, interactive engagement and increasing the power of the people in the room or online. My first goal is to make my sessions lively, entertaining, and full of applicable content that energizes and empowers the people in the room or online. My second goal is to demonstrate how to change the engagement level of the participants so that engagement resonates throughout the rest of the conference.

What this means for you is a keynote that can change the trajectory of your conference. A keynote that creates such positive engagement that the rest of your conference and the participants themselves benefit ("Engagement: the gift that keeps on giving").

I have created an innovative session format that ties stories, theory, and application together in an active team-based game that primes every participant to learn deeper and stronger, connect deeper and stronger and create more engagement in the room.

Most clients place me as the opening keynote since that is where maximum value is produced.

Don't take it from me, though. Click on samples of my talks (and video reactions of participants) and/or client testimonials. >>>>

"Hi Roger, it was great 'seeing' you online! Your dynamic in-person energy translates so well online. You are going to thrive in this space! Thank you for the great session."
- Jennifer Kingen Kush, Digital Event Strategist

"I wanted to say how much I love your 'Talking To People in a Pandemic' series. You are so wonderful on stage and know just how to adjust to being on an intimate screen. I am endlessly impressed."
- Heather Sharpe, President, Sherpa Group Events
